SUBJECT [REDACTED]

I apologize for the delay in answering your letter of December 21, but was on vacation and just returned to the office. I am getting this out to you as quickly as possible and hopefully it will arrive while you are still located there.

We apologize for the fact that the name of [REDACTED] still appeared on the charter renewal application. Whenever an individual is placed on the Confidential File the name is supposed to be dropped so that it will no longer appear on the charter renewal. Apparently the system did not work properly and the name remained. The change of address is done automatically so that we can make certain that no more mail will be forwarded to the individual even if the name does not disappear as it should. We use the addresses of some of our professional staff in the Registration, Subscription and Statistical Service so that the mail will come to our homes rather than be mailed to the California location.

We apologize for this confusion and the questions which this must have caused to be asked. We will again check into the system which should remove the names to make certain that it is working at this time.

Sincerely,

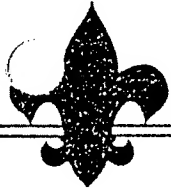

[REDACTED]

In April, 1984 there was reason to drop a [REDACTED] from the charter of Troop [REDACTED]. Material was forwarded to you, as I recall, related to the incident along with a copy of a letter from the troop committee.

Upon receipt of the charter renewal packet, the troop noted that Mr. [REDACTED] was still registered with a strange address. His phone number remained as the [REDACTED] home phone.

We have been asked to explain this and are unable to do so.

Your prompt reply will be helpful as I leave this council on January 11.

Thanks.

Sincerely,

In thinking over the letter you referred to me from Registration Service, I realize I may not have been specific enough. Here are the details of the [REDACTED].

With [REDACTED]

At 8 of 9 troop meetings, beginning in November or December 1982, and continuing through February or March 1984, [REDACTED] would call [REDACTED] outside, or would have him outside for some activity, and picked him up, kissed him on the cheek or forehead, said "I love you," and placed his hand on [REDACTED] genitals. This would continue until [REDACTED] could get down and get away. Sometimes he asked [REDACTED] to go for a walk with him.

After a troop meeting in the summer of 1983, he gave [REDACTED] a ride presumably home, instead he drove out [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] had [REDACTED] in his lap and steer, and placed his hand on [REDACTED] genitals; until [REDACTED] to be driven home. When he had [REDACTED] the car he would pick him up and growl.

He took [REDACTED] with him to his work ^{spring 1983} at the [REDACTED], and twice asked [REDACTED] to sit on his lap and touched [REDACTED] genitals.

3 or 4 times in the spring of 1984 he telephoned [REDACTED] inviting him to go camping alone with him.

With [REDACTED] during the winter camp in December 1982, he invited [REDACTED] sleep in his tent, and put his hand inside [REDACTED] underwear and touched [REDACTED] list. [REDACTED] moved and changed the subject, and when [REDACTED] into the tent, they all slept.

When these facts came to light, I interviewed [REDACTED] about [REDACTED] who had been

[REDACTED]

I found that the stories these four told me agreed in all significant details with the stories [REDACTED] told me. I am therefore certain that these are the true facts.

These incidents came to my attention on April 12, 1984, when [REDACTED] called me.

That evening I talked with [REDACTED] and with [REDACTED]. I talked with various Scouts April 13, and at winter camp April 14 and 15. April 16 I contacted you, [REDACTED] and [REDACTED]. I continued to talk to various Scouts, and had individually interviewed all who were in the troop when [REDACTED] was active by about two weeks later.

Mr. [REDACTED] had taken a leave of absence in February 1984 because he was being transferred to night work. He returned to a troop meeting on May 15, when I took him outside, told him the facts I had, and asked for his resignation. He wrote out a resignation, while protesting his innocence and that he was being misunderstood. The troop committee on May 31 accepted his resignation and requested you to remove his name from our roster, and as a merit badge counselor.

I hope this is what you need.

Sincerely,

[REDACTED]

Scout

Earlier this year, we had communication concerning the above named individual. I would like to have more information concerning this situation so that we may complete our files.

A confidential record sheet is being sent to you with this letter so that you may give us all the personal information concerning Mr. [REDACTED]. This will help us to identify him wherever he might locate, and try to register.

Letters from the charter organization or from the Scoutmaster will be most helpful in substantiating this information.
